

M.D. TESTIMONIALS

“I have recently added RecoveryRx to my recovery protocols to help patients heal better after surgery. RecoveryRx works by driving out the swelling of negative by-products from the damaged tissues. With less swelling, a decrease in pain occurs. RecoveryRx is wearable technology that is safe, easy to use and low cost. RecoveryRx has shown to be effective in reducing pain in breast augmentation, abdominoplasty, blepharoplasty, nose and facelift surgeries”.

Barry Eppley, MD, DMD
Plastic Surgeon
Indianapolis, Indiana

“I use RecoveryRx on every facial procedure. It reduces my patients bruising and swelling by 50% following Blepharoplasty, Face Lifts and Rhinoplasty. As a result of RecoveryRx, two weeks of standard surgical recovery has been reduced to 5 to 7 days.”

Laurie Casas MD, FACS
Northwestern University
Feinberg School of Medicine

“The RecoveryRx has made a world of difference in post-op pain control in my patients. We apply the RecoveryRx to all abdominoplasty patients. The difference in pain control is amazing.”

Kimberley B.C. Goh, MD, FACS
Myrtle Beach, SC

“The remarkable thing is that the nurses who work in recovery can tell which patients are using the RecoveryRx and which are not, by the level of discomfort and the amount of pain medication that they have to administer.”

David M. Whiteman, MD, FRCS
Duluth, GA

R.N. TESTIMONIALS

“Patients who use RecoveryRx seem very comfortable and ask for less pain medication even through phase two recovery.”

Darlene Stone, RN

“I have noted that the patients who are using RecoveryRx for breast surgery report to either have no pain or only minimal pain in the post-op phase 1 and phase 2 areas of recovery.”

Tara Reed, RN

“When RecoveryRx is used patients have much less post-op meds in the PACU.”

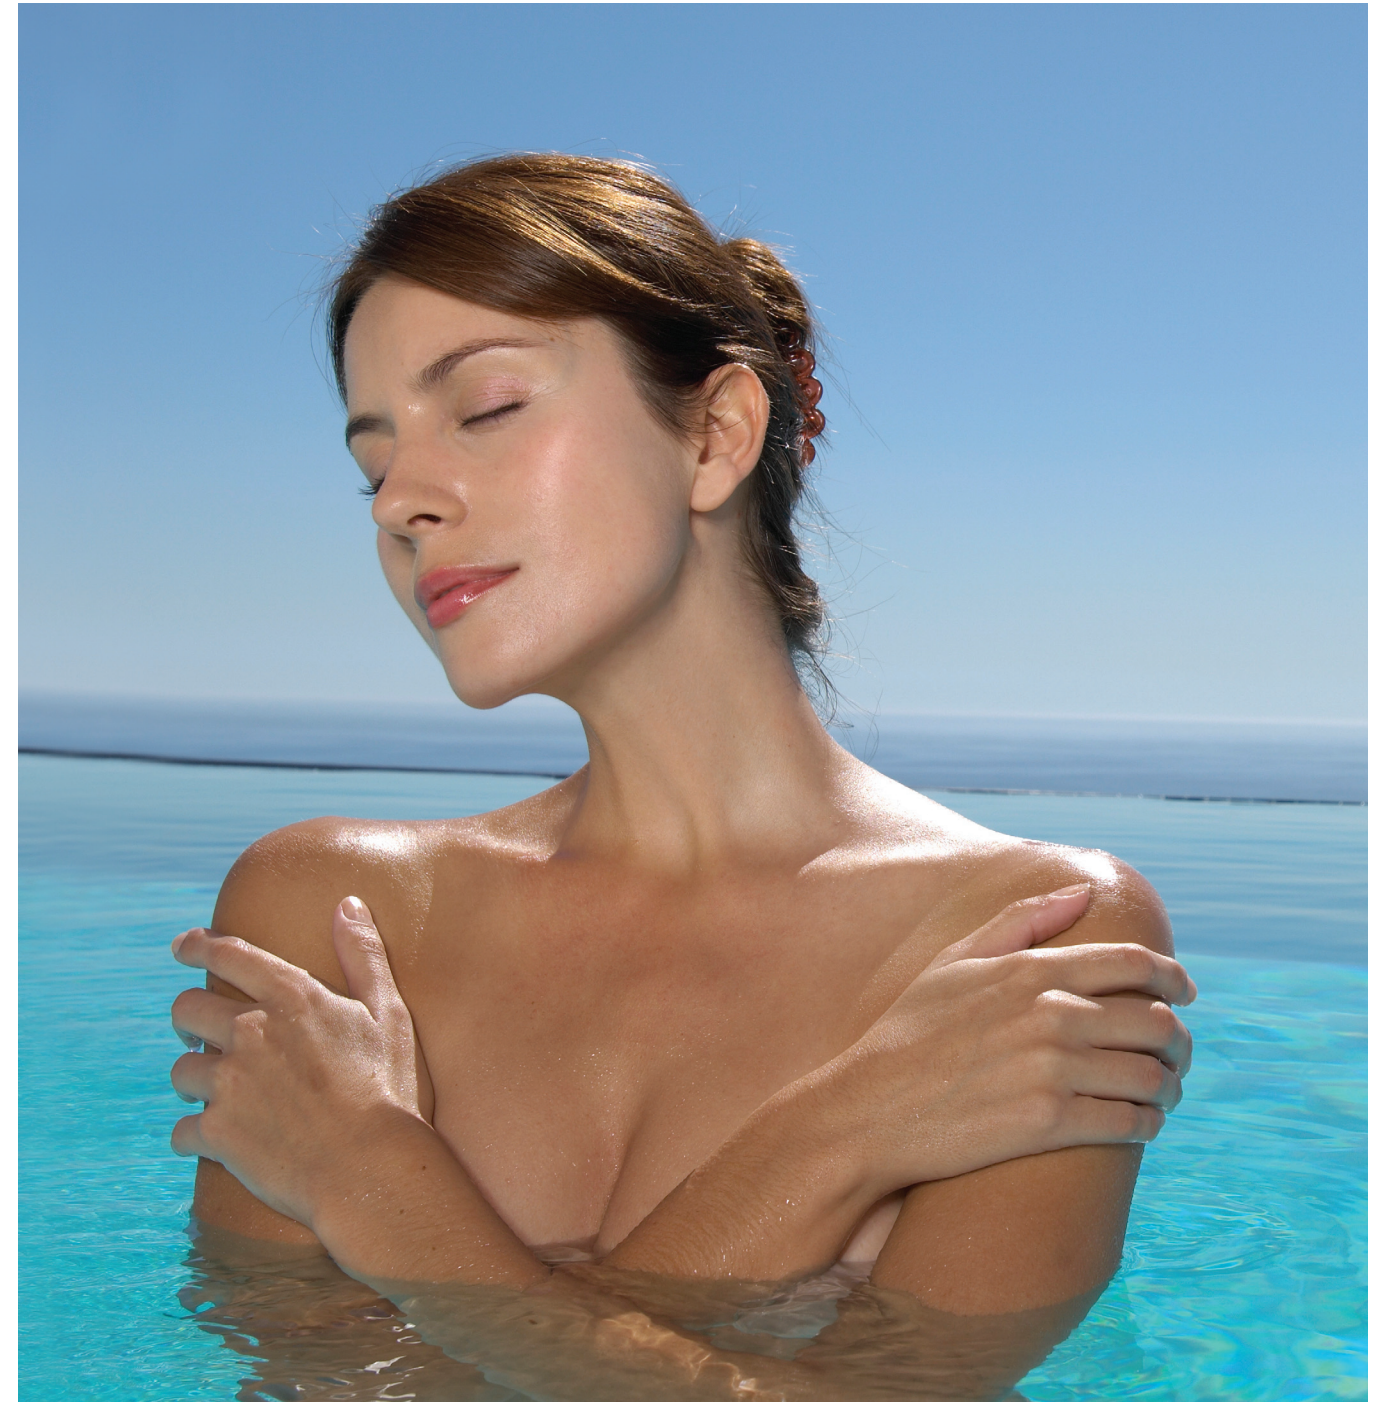

Sandy Conley, RN

24 HOUR RECOVERY PROTOCOL

THAT'S RIGHT! GET THEM OUT SHOPPING OR FOR DINNER THE NEXT DAY.

BREAST AUGMENTATION IS MAINLY A PULLED MUSCLE INJURY

Binding or wrapping a pulled muscle restricts movement and stretching and slows recovery.

PHYSICAL THERAPY-RECOVERY PROTOCOL

- 1) Place RecoveryRx over each breast in the operating room to be worn continuously for 48 hours to reduce pain and swelling.
- 2) Do not bind or wrap an injured muscle. Early moving and stretching of an injured muscle is key to recovery.
- 3) The night of surgery, start the patient on pain medication as well as a range of motion arm exercises.
- 4) Send them out the next day to tell their friends and family about your care.

HOW RECOVERYRX WORKS

When soft tissue is damaged, the cells separate to prevent the transmission of infection. The cells leak fluid and cellular components break down while the cellular debris causes inflammation, swelling and pain.

RecoveryRx stabilizes the leaking cell membrane by recharging the membrane. The pulsed energy delivered by RecoveryRx drives out the edematous fluid along with by products of the damaged tissue, which reduces the swelling.

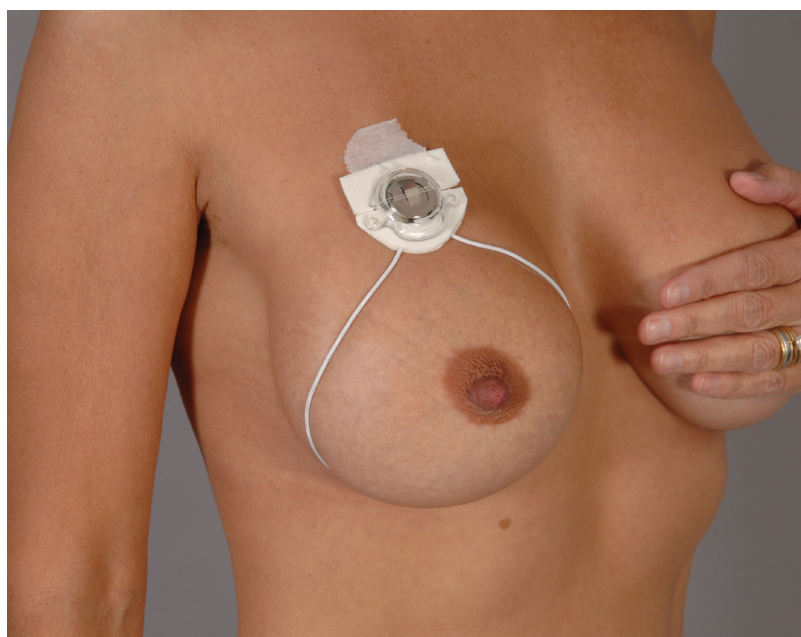

The mechanisms provide an environment in which cell-cell communication is re-established in the area of the injured tissue. This provides a well demonstrated and significant overall improvement in the restorative and recovery process following injury.

As a result of the above changes, a decrease in the pain associated with soft tissue injury occurs.

BENEFITS OF RECOVERYRX

- Continuous therapeutic dosage during the critical initial inflammatory phase
- Drug free and Non-invasive
No ice or topical ointments
- Patients and staff love the convenience and ease of use
- Disposable

IMPROVING THE WAY PATIENTS HEAL

Patients and surgeons have called RecoveryRx a modern miracle. Actually the benefits of pulsed electromagnetic field therapy have been clinically accepted for many years. What is new is the delivery method. RecoveryRx is small, virtually weightless and inexpensive. RecoveryRx is "wearable" technology that treats the sources of discomfort, allowing patients to quickly return to their active lifestyle.

The RecoveryRx device is flexible, comfortable, easy to apply and use. Once activated, RecoveryRx begins pulsing a continuous low level current to energize damaged cells in the surgical region, helping remove the effects of trauma so patients can feel better and look better faster that they would have ever thought possible!
